THE PROMISE

a note from kara

For over a decade, I have mastered this craft to bring you an experience & product that leaves no close second.

It's the only thing you walk away with, which means, my entire life is about seeing what's precious and meaningful IN the moment it's happening and catching it before it's gone. My purpose is to write moments exactly as they are in an image so true, you feel it over again for years to come.

I'm only here for what's real. We rarely connect with photos (even artistically stunning photos) by the way they look, but how they make us feel.

My mission solely revolves around images that will stir you, no matter how much time has passed. To look through your life and be pulled into each moment so deeply, you can feel the hair blow across your face, the moment your eyes met, or what was said the moment before your lips cracked into a smile.

I am not looking to grow another wedding business, but a movement for authenticity. I am trusted to breathe in raw moments, leaving not a single detail of that place in time unwritten.

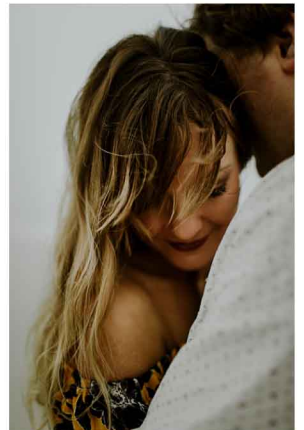

Before you found me, I have already made a promise to you.

A promise to take full responsibility over your experience. I seek to showcase your corner of the world exactly as it is, you are timeless.

I am deeply in it with all my heart. Being the author to so many completely different stories is what I live for. Everything I do has an intention designed around years of pivoting each step for perfection. I want my place in this time in your life to be something that made it better, deeper, richer and more fun.

My promise to you is simple;
consistent excellence, taken one step further.

THE EXPERIENCE

Legendary client service

As a photographer with a deeply passionate investment in your wedding day, I am devoted to more than the role behind the camera.

I am walking with you in each step of your journey. We will touch base many times, I would love to be a part of tastings & tours, help with the tiny touches and offer creative resources to design a day that is a dream come true. I will get in touch with your event planner, coordinators and any vendors involved in the day to discuss the vision & itinerary to ensure we are on the same page for a day that flows flawlessly.

I will also research and/or visit your ceremony & reception site before the big day to get acquainted with the layout and prepare to capture your dream day.

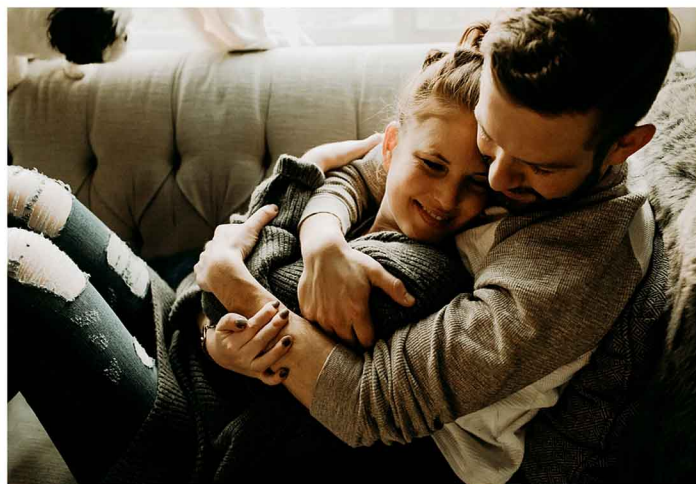

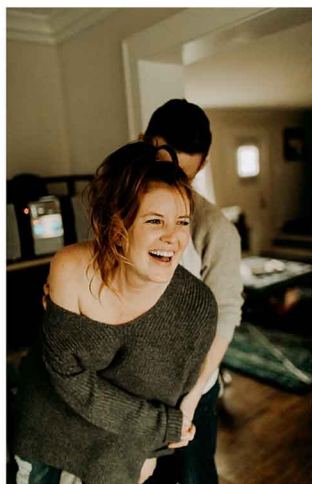

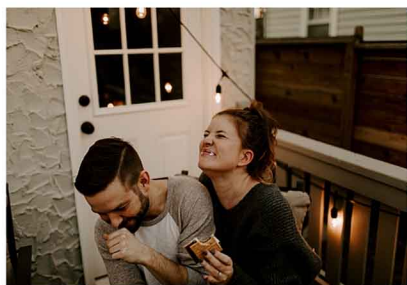

A few months before your vows, we will meet back up for drinks and lay out the final itinerary complete with addresses and details.

During your day, I will be knowledgeable of your timeline, addresses, important arrivals, VIP family & friends and key details so guests and staff will be able to rely on me so that you and your other half can be fully present in the day and be blissfully unaware of any behind the scenes magic happening.

It's not just about the pictures you take, but the experience you take with you.

We were together. I forget the rest.

- Walt Whitman

THE ENGAGEMENT SESSION

our best moments always have the two of us

The last glimpse of you as two separate pieces of a whole. In a few winks, you will be one, family, a pair.

We usually set the date for this session during our consultation to ensure you get a date set that works best for your schedule and in time to send off "save the dates" to family, friends & loved ones possibly traveling from afar.

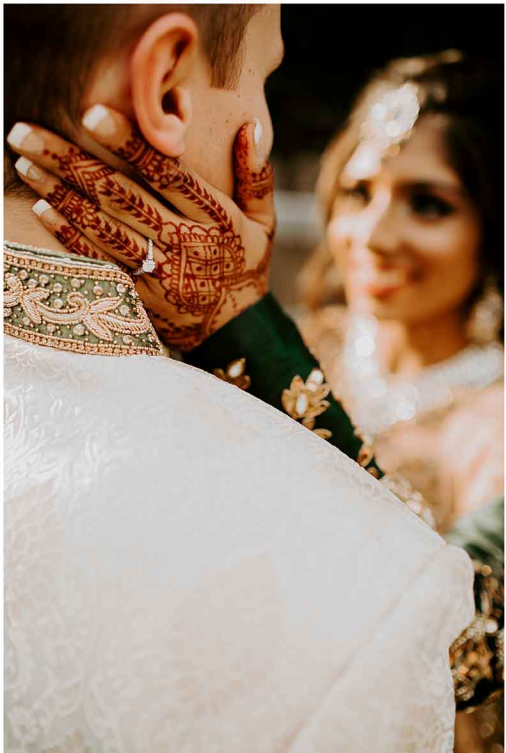

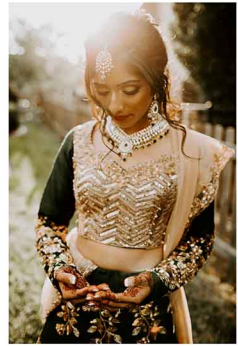

For this session, I will get the inside scoop on your inside jokes, quirks, go-to's and favorites places to plan the perfect day.

We have taken cooking classes, gone on hikes, rifled through old libraries, spent a lazy afternoon in, gotten carried away with food fights in the kitchen and even hit the open road on a day trip to the lake. With other adventurers, I have flown in just for an afternoon in a National Park or unforgettable sentimental place where you two first met abroad.

On the day of the session, I highly recommend that you both take the whole day off from any plans, work and even chores at home. Wake up with one another in peace and solitude. Sleep in, take your scruff and messy buns to the kitchen and cook together, sip coffee on the porch and spend your morning tangled in each other and relaxed.

During the session, I have many prompts and things to naturally draw out your interaction in a way that is authentic and heartfelt. I lean away from staged moments so no need to assess your level of "comfort" in front of the camera, I have you covered.

I will encourage authentic engagement with one another to really capture organic connection and author your love story in a way that will make a true and beautiful chapter you can truly feel as powerfully as the big day itself.
